Neyha is an outstanding Grade 11 Visual Arts student. At present, she is meeting most of the requirements in the course. In unit one, Neyha showed a solid understanding of how artists express a sense of identity through the use of colour and the application of line and value. In unit two, Neyha capably rendered a series of animal drawings demonstrating an exceptional understanding of the process of abstraction as she managed both traditional and digital media earning a perfect result. Neyha is on track to have a fantastic year in visual art.

Neyha is a joy to have in the class. While she has immense skill as a programmer, perhaps her strongest attributes are her ability to work collaboratively with peers and the clarity with which she sees solutions to even the most complex problems. Neyha has been programming at a very high level all year and is finding little difficulty with even the university-level concepts. She is poised for much success moving forward.

Neyha has found her stride in physics, strong homework scores and impressive daily notes will continue to move her toward mastery of the content. Now that the foundational ideas have been firmly established, Neyha appears more confident volunteering ideas during lessons. Neyha is encouraged to continue using the online resources and examples that are available to her as guides for self-evaluation. With continued dedication, Neyha should be able to build on her current success in physics.

	Book Club-SL		Ms. Straughan
It is wonderful having Neyha in this virtual club; she has been attending and contributing since last spring, through the summer and fall. Neyha is thoughtful about what she reads, and her insightful comments enhance and propel book discussion.
	Comedy for the Camera - Arts		Mr. MacPherson
This term, students began to work with comedic scripts to develop scenes for the camera. Skills being developed include character analysis, comedic timing, and how to capture comedy on film. Neyha has been working on a scene called "Sure Thing", and is beginning to explore the humour behind first dates. The coming term will see her work fully developed and put to film.
	Dance Troupe- Arts		Ms. Velasquez-Labrecque
The students who are members of the TCS Fall Dance Troupe are working on technique and choreography in the areas of jazz and contemporary. Neyha has adapted well to the program's new way of working, whether on Google Meet, in the tent, or in the studio with her cohort while wearing a mask. Neyha is progressing well with her flexibility, technique, and execution of choreography and is encouraged to continue working on the precision and control of the positions and movement. Neyha has an excellent work ethic and always asks questions if clarification is needed. Neyha's enthusiasm is contagious, and a welcome addition to the dance troupe this term.
Rigby	Housemaster		Ms. Ironside
As Neyha returns as a senior in Rigby House, her year has started off strong. Her assistance to help new families on arrival to campus on opening day in September is appreciated. Neyha remains a supportive, kind, and loyal friend to her peers, and she sets a good example for her housemates. It is hoped that Neyha will consider representing Rigby House in the debate program this year, as she has a strong track record in this area. Neyha is encouraged to participate in Green Cup initiatives such as Rigby's ugly fruit smoothies and Thrifty Thursday's activities as the year unfolds. It is a pleasure to be Neyha's housemaster.
Advisor	Advisor		Ms. Dalliday
Neyha's friendly demeanour, positive attitude, and enthusiasm for learning have transcended into all areas of school life. Combined with her strong learning skills, this has resulted in a successful first term for Neyha and she should be proud of her achievements. Neyha's unique abilities and creativity have been duly noted by her teachers and co-curricular leaders. Her tenacity is admirable and it is a pleasure to be Neyha's advisor.
